Lotta Valve: Elijah, the Servant, and Phinehas: The exegetical tradition behind Ben Sira’s portrayal of Elijah’s coming (Sir 48:10–11)

Peter Porzig: “Prophecy” and “rewriting” in the Dead Sea Scrolls

Lukas Bormann: “One of the prophets of the old” (Lk 9:19): Luke’s rewriting of the biblical prophetic tradition

Cornelis de Vos: Past, present, and prophecy in Hebrews 1

Johanna Conrad: Bringing the beast into the present: Daniel 7 rewritten in Revelation 13

Antti Laato: Hezekiah in the rewritten version of the Book of Isaiah, Targum Isaiah

Susanne Talabardon: Moshe ha-Naví in Rabbinic tradition

Pekka Lindqvist: Rabbis on false prophets

Martin Meiser: Prophecy and pseudo-prophecy: Biblical texts, rewritten Bible, and ancient exegetical literature

Anni Maria Laato: Eve, Rebecca, and Mary as prophetical images of the church

Jaakko Hämeen-Anttila: The prophet Muhammad and the Arabian prophecy

Martin Tamcke: The use of the Book of Isaiah in Catholicos Timotheos’ dialogue with Caliph al-Mahdi

Vasile Octavian Mihoc: The role of prophecy in early Christian-Arabic apologetics: Theodore Abu Qurrah’s model of rewritten Bible in the encounter with Islam

Maros Nicak: The direct speech of John the Baptist and the liturgical use of the Book of Warda

Nadja Johansson: Prophecy, astrology, and the role of Enoch in the works of Abraham Ibn Ezra

Mariano Gómez Aranda: Hezekiah in question: Medieval Jewish controversies on Isaiah 11