TABLE OF CONTENTS

1. INTRODUCTION ................................................................. 1
   1.1 On the Establishment of International Criminal Tribunals .............. 1
   1.2 Aim and Methodology of the Study, and Its Structure ................... 3
   1.3 Material Used ............................................................. 6
       1.3.1 On the Sources of Law and on Their Interpretation ............... 6
       1.3.1.1 Sources of Law .................................................. 6
       1.3.1.2 Interpretation ................................................... 8
           1.3.1.2.1 On Interpretation Principles ............................ 8
           1.3.1.2.2 On the Binding Force of Earlier Interpretations ...... 11
       1.3.2 On the Use of Literature ........................................... 13
   1.4 Some Key Terms of the Study ........................................... 13
       1.4.1 The Concepts of a Victim and a Witness ........................... 13
           1.4.1.1 Some Preliminary Remarks ................................. 13
           1.4.1.2 The Concept of a Victim .................................... 14
           1.4.1.3 The Concept of a Witness .................................. 18
       1.4.2 The Concept of International Criminal Tribunals ................ 19

PART I: FACTORS INFLUENCING THE STATUS GRANTED TO VICTIMS
IN CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS ................................................ 21

2. CRIME, PUNISHMENT AND VICTIMS:
REFLECTIONS ON HOW THE PREVAILING VIEW ON HOW TO PUNISH AFFECTS THE ROLE AFFORDED TO VICTIMS IN CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS ...... 23

   2.1 On Criminal Justice ....................................................... 23
   2.2 The Classical Criminal Justice Theories and the Status of Victims ...... 25
       2.2.1 Retributive Theories on Criminal Justice .......................... 25
           2.2.1.1 Characteristics of Retributive Theories .................... 25
           2.2.1.2 Retributive Thinking and Victims .......................... 26
       2.2.2 Utilitarian Justifications of Punishment ............................ 29
           2.2.2.1 Characteristics of Utilitarian Theories ..................... 29
           2.2.2.2 Reasons Why Classical Utilitarian Thinking Can Be Highly Anti-Victim ........................................... 31
       2.2.3 On Fair Trial Rights and on the Protection of Societal Interests ... 32
       2.2.4 Some Concluding Remarks on the Classical Criminal Justice
           Theories ............................................................... 33
2.3 Theories and Movements Challenging the Classical Criminal Justice Theories .......................................................... 34
    2.3.1 Introduction ............................................. 34
    2.3.2 The Victims’ Movement ................................... 35
    2.3.3 Restorative Justice ........................................ 36
2.4 Concluding Remarks ............................................. 40

3. DOMESTIC CRIMINAL JUSTICE SYSTEMS AND VICTIMS:
   REFLECTIONS ON HOW THE PREVAILING LEGAL TRADITION AFFECTS
   THE ROLE AFFORDED TO VICTIMS IN CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS .......... 43
   3.1 Legal Systems and Legal Traditions ................................. 43
   3.2 The Common Law Tradition ....................................... 44
       3.2.1 Generally on Common Law and Criminal Justice ............ 44
       3.2.2 The Common Law Tradition and Victims .................... 46
       3.2.3 The Status of Victims in the United States of America ....... 48
   3.3 The Civil Law Tradition .......................................... 50
       3.3.1 Generally on Civil Law Criminal Justice Systems .......... 50
       3.3.2 The Civil Law Tradition and Victims ....................... 52
       3.3.3 The Status of Victims in the Civil Law Countries France and Finland .................................................. 52
            3.3.3.1 France .......................................... 52
            3.3.3.2 Finland .......................................... 54
   3.4 Concluding Remarks ............................................. 56

4. THE MAIN FEATURES OF THE INTERNATIONAL CRIMINAL TRIBUNALS .... 57
   4.1 Introduction .................................................... 57
   4.2 What Kinds of Cases Do the International Criminal Tribunals Deal With? ...... 57
   4.3 The Structure of the International Criminal Tribunals ............. 60
   4.4 The International Criminal Tribunals and the Major Legal Traditions of the World ....................................................... 62
   4.5 The Underlying Philosophy and Main Aims of the International Criminal Tribunals ......................................................... 64
       4.5.1 Some Preliminary Remarks ................................ 64
       4.5.2 The Objectives of the Yugoslavia Tribunal ............... 64
       4.5.3 The Objectives of the International Criminal Court ....... 67
   4.6 Concluding Observations ......................................... 69
PART II: THE INTERNATIONAL CRIMINAL TRIBUNALS AND THE VICTIMS OF CRIME .......................................................... 71

5. INTERNATIONAL CRIMINAL TRIBUNALS AND VICTIMS:
VICTIMS AS WITNESSES .......................................................... 73

5.1 On the Procedural Position of Victims in the Criminal Proceedings .................. 73
5.2 Victims as Witnesses before the International Criminal Tribunals .................. 74
  5.2.1 Witnesses and the Ad Hoc Tribunals .................................. 74
  5.2.2 Witnesses and the International Criminal Court ....................... 77
5.3 Generally on Protective and Support Measures ................................... 79
5.4 On the Tribunal Organs Responsible for Providing Protection and Support, and Especially on the Victims and Witnesses Sections of the Tribunals ........... 82
5.5 The Protection and Support of Witnesses at the Pre-Trial Stage ................. 86
  5.5.1 The Prosecutor and Pre-Trial Protection ................................ 86
  5.5.2 The Judges/Chambers and Pre-Trial Protection ....................... 91
  5.5.3 The Victims and Witnesses Sections and Pre-Trial Protection and Support ............................................................................ 94
  5.5.4 Concluding Observations on the Protection and Support
Given before Trial ..................................................................... 95
5.6 Protection and Support of Victim Witnesses during Trial ....................... 96
  5.6.1 Introduction ...................................................................... 96
  5.6.2 Protection through Confidentiality Measures ......................... 99
    5.6.2.1 Introduction .......................................................... 99
    5.6.2.2 Confidentiality and the Ad Hoc Tribunals ....................... 99
    5.6.2.3 Confidentiality and the International Criminal Court ........ 104
  5.6.3 Measures That Aim at Preventing Secondary Victimization ............ 105
    5.6.3.1 Introduction ................................................................ 105
    5.6.3.2 Support Measures Available to All Witnesses ............... 106
    5.6.3.3 Support Measures Available Only to Sensitive Victims and Witnesses ......................................................................... 109
  5.6.4 Provisions on Witness Questioning ....................................... 111
    5.6.4.1 Generally on Witness Questioning ................................ 111
    5.6.4.2 Chamber Control over the Mode and Manner of Witness Questioning .......................................................... 114
    5.6.4.3 Measures to Minimize Inconvenience to Victim Witnesses
      5.6.4.3.1 Introduction ...................................................... 116
      5.6.4.3.2 Deposited Evidence, Transcripts from Other Cases, and Written Evidence ...................................................... 118
      5.6.4.3.3 Joinder of Cases ............................................... 123
    5.6.4.4 Special Rules on Evidence When It Comes to Cases
Regarding Sexual Violence ...................................................... 125