At the moment, all upper respiratory symptoms are treated in health centers or the emergency department. You should not come to student health care if you have upper respiratory symptoms, even if you do not think you have coronavirus. Please contact private medical centers or Vaasa City's health centers if you need treatment for upper respiratory symptoms.

If you suspect that you have coronavirus, please contact your own health center during office hours. Outside of office hours, you should use the national Medical Helpline number 116117. Always contact by telephone first! You can read about coronavirus in the Vaasa region via the following link:
